TEAMSTERS AIRLINE DIVISION NAMES NAGROTSKY DEPUTY DIRECTOR

Aviation Lawyer Has Extensive Labor Experience

(WASHINGTON, DC) – The International Brotherhood of Teamsters announced Friday that Steve Nagrotsky has been named deputy director of the union's Airline Division.

Nagrotsky has 27 years experience with the Air Line Pilots Association and is an expert on collective bargaining and Railway Labor Act contract enforcement. Further, he has extensive experience in arbitrations, negotiations and as an advisor to labor groups.

"Steve Nagrotsky is the perfect man for the job," said David Bourne, Airline Division Director. "The Airline Division has experienced an unprecedented 38 percent growth in membership over the past year and currently has 22 Section 6 contract negotiations to address this year. Steve will play a vital role in representing our members and growing the union."

Nagrotsky brings a wealth of knowledge and experience on Railway Labor Act issues to the Teamsters Union. In addition to day-to-day responsibilities, Nagrotsky will play a key role in formulating new policies and practices to ensure the future growth of the Teamsters Airline Division.

Nagrotsky received his undergraduate degree in Industrial Relations from Cornell University, where he attended on a union scholarship program from the New York Central Labor Trades Council. He earned his law degree from New York University.

Founded in 1903, the Teamsters Union represents more than 1.4 million hardworking men and women in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico.
